J.S. Bach

Cantata No. 13 (titled "concerto da chiesa")

Meine Seufzer, meine Tränen

NBA I/5; BC A34

2. S. after Epiphany (BWV 155, 3, 13)

*Rom. 12:6-16 (Ends at "men of low estate"; Diversity of gifts, exemplary conduct)

*Jn. 2:1-11 (Wedding at Cana, where Jesus tells his mother, "My hour has not yet come.")

On this day the the order of marriage was traditionally read. See Petzoldt, "Bach Kommentar," vol. 2, p. 455.

Librettist: Georg Christian Lehms
FP: 20 Jan. 1726 (St. Thomas)

1. Aria

•Despair: My days are filled with sighs and tears (13/1). Probably allusion to Psalm 56:8: "Thou hast kept count of my tossings; put thou my tears in thy bottle! Are they not in thy book?"

13/1. Recorders in 3rds

Da capo aria

Sustained or repeated (throbbing) notes alternate with moving figures, suggesting resignation vs. discomfort. No apparent pastoral associations of 12/8. The recorders play theme derived from vocal opening.

13/2. 2. Recitativo

Alto

•Despair: I cry to God but he does not answer (13/2). The word "noch" (yet or still) recalls Jesus' words in the Gospel reading (and the theme often emphasized on this day): "My hour has not yet come" (see above).

Full da capo emphasizes the extent of the misery.

Alto is often the voice of the believing soul. See Petzoldt, "Bach Kommentar," vol. 1, p. 541.

D7

J.S. Bach - Church Cantatas BWV 13 The reference to the hour ("Stunde") when God will hear recalls Jesus' words to his mother in the Gospel reading, "My hour has not yet come." The theme of waiting for God's hour was often emphasized on this day (see above). The reference to "seeing the promise from afar" may allude to Hebrews 11:13, which lists the heroes of faith: "These all died in faith, not having received what was promised, but having seen it and greeted it from afar...."

Text painting: Chromatic ariso for "flehen" (plead); The vocal line is characterized by large upward-reaching intervals, followed by drops, as if the poet alternates between hope & despair, while the continuo treads downward (occasionally pushing upward) in heavy, unrelenting steps, displaced by octaves, as if exhausted (see full score for exact line).

NBA: continuo note is unfigured, suggesting hopeful F major.

13/3. 3. Choral (Mel: „Freu dich sehr, o meine Seele“) •Despair: God's promise to help has not come true (13/3). The chorale as a whole alludes to Isaiah 49:14-16. "But Zion said, 'The LORD has forsaken me, my Lord has forgotten me....'"

Central Movement: Alto voice continues. It is often the voice of the believing soul. See Petzoldt, "Bach Kommentar," vol. 1, p. 541.

Note the frequent appearance of figura corta (see side note). "Lively string figures in a joyful F major express...hope for God's promised help, even though...so far no such help is forth coming." See Alfred Dürr/Jones, p. 199. Petzoldt suggests that the strings express persistent prayer in face of delayed response. See vol. 2, p. 458.

• Hope gained by looking to heaven; weeping of no use (13/5). Extreme chromaticism for opening anguished text: augmented seconds, diminished seventh chords, tritones. Hope expressed in ascending scales ("looking to heaven"). This is one of the most anguished of Bach's arias.
